EXPERTISE

Jonathan has worked in the foodservice design field for over a decade. He possesses a wealth of knowledge and understanding gained while working with some of the most respected and profitable restaurant operators in the country.

As we reimagine the role of food in a school setting, this experience lends itself well to the task at hand. Beyond that, he provides a positive outlook and true sense of excitement to each and every endeavor that he is a part of. Jonathan is located in Chicago and provides project leadership to our clients and design partners in this region.
